This database is an index to individuals enumerated in the 1850 United States Federal Census, the Seventh Census of the United States. Census takers recorded many details including each person's name, age as of the census day, sex, color; birthplace, occupation of males over age fifteen, and more. No relationships were shown between members of a household. Additionally, the names of those listed on the population schedule are linked to actual images of the 1850 Federal Census. Learn more...

Original data: The tenth census of the United States, 1870. (NARA microfilm publication M593, 1,761 rolls). Records of the Bureau of the Census, Record Group 29. National Archives, Washington, D.C.

Description: This publication consists of microfilmed records created by the 1870 census enumerators. The records are arranged by state, thereunder by county, thereunder by minor civil division, and thereunder by enumeration district. Within districts, the records are arranged by dwelling house and family in the order in which visited by the enumerator. The records for each family usually list the name, age, sex, color, occupation, birthplace, and whether married within the year, literate, attended school within the year, and unable to read or write. Records for persons who died during the year preceding the census usually list the name, age, sex, color, occupation, birthplace, month of death, and cause of death.

Description

This is an image of a page from the 1850 United States Federal Census for the United States. Census takers recorded information about each household in the census, including the name of each person living in the household, their age, sex, race, and birthplace. For persons who were born outside the United States, the census taker recorded whether they were naturalized or an alien. The census taker also recorded whether anyone in the household was married within the year, attended school within the year, was literate, was deaf, blind, insane, or idiotic, pauper, or convict.

Ancestry.com. 1850 United States Federal Census [database on-line]. Provo, UT, USA: The Generations Network, Inc., 2004. Original data: United States of America, Bureau of the Census. Seventh Census of the United States, 1850. Washington, D.C.: National Archives and Records Administration, 1850. M432, 1,009 rolls.

Description

This database is an index to and digital image of the 1850 United States Federal Census. The Seventh Census of the United States, 1850 was enumerated as of June 1, 1850. The census schedules list the name of each person whose place of abode on that date was within the boundaries of the area enumerated, and for each person provide information about age, sex, color, and birthplace. For persons who died before June 1, 1850, or who were born after June 1, 1850, no information is given. For persons living in more than one place during the year before June 1, 1850, the census usually lists only the place where they were living on June 1, 1850. Persons living on the dates the census was taken were to be listed as members of the household in which they lived. Slaves were listed by owner, usually without name, but by age, sex, and color. Free persons were usually listed by name, with age, sex, color, and birthplace. Persons who died between June 1, 1850, and the date the census was taken were usually listed, with information about their age at death and cause of death.

Louis DuBois (Huguenot)

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia
Jump to navigation Jump to search

DuBois stone "fort house" on Huguenot Street in New Paltz, New York, now serves as a visitor center and museum

Louis DuBois (died 1696) was a Huguenot colonist in New Netherland who, with two of his sons and nine other refugees, founded the town of New Paltz, New York. These Protestant refugees fled Catholic persecution in France, emigrating to the Die Pfalz, the Rhenish Palatinate (in present-day Germany), before going to New Netherland where they settled in Wiltwyck (present day Kingston, NY) and Nieuw Dorp, settlements midway between New Amsterdam (present day New York City) and Beverwyck (today known as Albany, New York) before ultimately founding New Paltz.

Louis DuBois (died 1696) was a Huguenot colonist in New Netherland who, with two of his sons and nine other refugees, founded the town of New Paltz, New York. These Protestant refugees fled Catholic persecution in France, emigrating to the Die Pfalz, the Rhenish Palatinate (in present-day Germany), before going to New Netherland where they settled in Wiltwyck (present day Kingston, NY) and Nieuw Dorp, settlements midway between New Amsterdam (present day New York City) and Beverwyck (today known as Albany, New York) before ultimately founding New Paltz.

Early life

Louis was the son of Chrétien du Bois and Françoise le Poivre of Wicres in Artois, and later Hedrick in Romanes Flanders, then part of Spanish Netherlands, today included in the Hauts-de-France region, France.

The 3rd part of Horton, "The Memory of the Just is Blessed",[1] begins with an extract from a document in the Archives du Nord, and commentary:

Louis du Bois fils de feu Crestien de stil couturier dem(eurant) à Herlÿ ...at par ceste vendu cede et t(ran)sporte audict Franchois du Bois ... touttes tel part droict et action quil poeut ... avoir des suscessions et hoiries à luy venu ... par les trepas dudict Crestien son père et de Franchoise le Poivre sa mere ... (2E3/3572-110 (August 12, 1643)). On this day in 1643, our future Patentee sold his interest in his parents' estate to his uncle "Franchois du Bois fils de feu Anthoine dem(eurant) à Wicre" (for 3,600 livres parisis). Ibid. Although he was already a 'dressmaker' by profession ("de stil couturier"), he would have been on that date, according to our tradition, aged merely 16 years. The reader is justifiably struck by the singularity of this professional status and contractual capacity at such a tender age. There is no suggestion of record, for example, that he was operating under any tutelage or guardianship in this sale of his birthright. Nor does it indicate that Louis was merely a couturier's "apprentice" or the like. When presented with the new evidence from Lille, readers will likely agree that American traditions regarding the birthdates of the three known Huguenot children of Chrétien du Bois — Louis, Françoise, and Jacques — should be revisited, and, perhaps, accordingly revised.

The article seemingly demonstrates that the christening recorded 21 Oct 1626 at Wicres refers to Toussaint du Bois, not his brother Louis. Louis du Bois and his (apparent twin) brother Antoine were christened at Wicres 17 Jun 1622. Louis and Antoine appear to have been named after their paternal grandfather and great-grandfather.

> The article is written in Picard which is the native language of Romance Flanders (including Walloon Flanders in Belgium nowadays). It is unrelated to Flemish Dutch spoken further west that is one of the three national languages of Belgium, together with French and German and a non official language in French Westhoek. The various Dutch dialects spoken in Belgium and in France contain a number of lexical and grammatical features which distinguish them from standard Dutch. Crestien translates to Guislain (or Ghislain), and formal records were usually kept in Latin, as the Flanders region was then governed as the Spanish Netherlands. de stil Couturier above can be translated as "fashion designer" and a member of the wool supply trade at that time as Guislains lands were sold. His titleage was sold at a later date. In those days, wool was gold.

Refugee from Religious Persecution

Louis fled persecution in France to Mannheim, Germany before 1650. Louis married Catherine Blanchan, in Mannheim, Germany on October 10, 1655. (Publication of Collections of the Ulster Historical Society –Ulster County Historical Society (Kingston, N.Y.), Ulster County Historical Society, Kingston, N.Y., ADDRESS of the Hon. A. BRUYN HASBROUCK, LL.D., delivered before the Society October 17th, 1859. Page XXXIV)

Family

Louis and Catherine had at least eleven children:

1. Abraham DuBois (1657–1731), who was also a New Paltz Patentee. He married Margaret Deyo, daughter of Christian Deyo, another New Paltz Patentee.
2. Isaac DuBois (1659–1690), who was also a New Paltz Patentee. He married Maria Hasbrouck, daughter of Jean Hasbrouck II, another New Paltz Patentee, and his wife Anne Deyo, daughter of Christian Deyo.
3. Jacob DuBois (1661–1745), married Gerritje Nieuwkirk
4. Sarah DuBois (1664–1726), married Joost Jansen Van Meteren
5. David DuBois (1667–1715), married Cornelia Vernooy
6. Solomon DuBois (1669–1759), married Tryntje Gerritsen Foochen
7. Rebecca DuBois (1671-by 1713)
8. Rachel DuBois (1675-by 1713)
9. Louis DuBois Jr. (1677–1749), married Rachel Hasbrouck. She was the daughter of Abraham Hasbrouck, another New Paltz Patentee and his wife, Maria Deyo, daughter of Christian Deyo.
10. Mattheus DuBois (1679–1748), married Sara Van Keuren.
11. Magdalena DuBois (1680-by 1713)[2]

New Netherland Immigration

The DuBoises eventually moved to Kingston, New York within New Netherland around 1660, then to Hurley, New York. In 1663 the Esopus Indians captured DuBois' wife and three children who were eventually rescued three months later. According to legend but unmentioned in the detailed journal of the rescue expedition's commander, his wife, Catherine DuBois, was singing the Psalm 137 about the Babylonian captivity when they were rescued. Louis DuBois was also physically attacked by the Indians, but fought back and survived.[3][4]

New Paltz Patentee

DuBois and the others bought a 40,000-acre tract of land from the Esopus Indians in 1677. The tract, known in 17th-century colonial New York as a "patent," stretched from the Hudson River to the Shawangunk Mountains. DuBois was one of eleven men to begin settling on a rise over the Wallkill River, in the center of the patent, in 1678.[5] Louis DuBois served as one of the original elders in New Paltz's French Reformed Church, which is still in existence today.[6]

In the early years, DuBois and his fellow patentees governed the land communally. In 1728, the surviving patentees and their descendants created a more formal form a government called "The Twelve Men" (later known as the Duzine). This body consisted of one elected representative for each patentee families. Membership was restricted to their descendants through either male or female lines. To this date, some of the DuBois land is still owned by the family descendants. In 1785, the New York State Legislature confirmed the actions of this body. Although a standard form of town government was established in the late 18th century, the Duzine existed in at least ceremonial form into the 19th century. In the later years of the Duzine, the members were consumed with lawsuits defending the boundaries of the New Paltz patent. At one time, the Duzine hired Aaron Burr to represent them in such a lawsuit.

Final Days

Louis himself eventually returned to Wiltwyck, by then known as Kingston, where he died prior to his will entering probate on June 23, 1696.[7] His widow remarried, and in her will freed two of her slaves.

Kerrenhappuch was the daughter of Job Hyatt. Her mother was Native American, probably Delaware Indian. Her name (Kerrenhappuch) usually confuses people so that they think it is an Indian name of some sort when, in fact, it is a Biblical name taken from the book of Job.

SEAL OF THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE
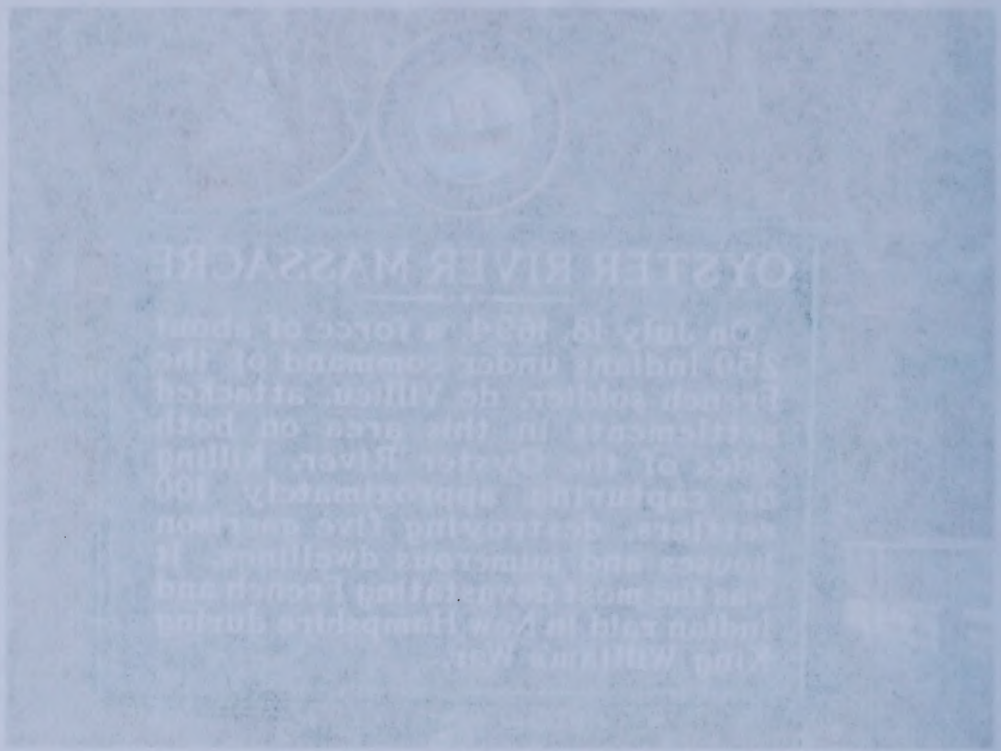
OYSTER RIVER MASSACRE
On July 18, 1694, a force of about 250 Indians under command of the French soldier, de Villieu, attacked settlements in this area on both sides of the Oyster River, killing or capturing approximately 100 settlers, destroying five garrison houses and numerous dwellings. It was the most devastating French and Indian raid in New Hampshire during King William's War.



The Attack at Oyster River

18 Jul 1694, Oyster River, NH

The attack on the south bank of the Oyster River was pressed with brutal ferocity. The family of Stephen and Ann Jenkins tried to escape the carnage by fleeing into their cornfield. In a June 1695 deposition, Mrs. Jenkins described what happened: "in the morning about the dawning of the day my husband being up went out of the dore, and presently returning cried to me and our children to run for our lives, for the Indians had beset the town: whereupon my husband and myself fled with our children into our cornfield, & at our entrance into the field, Bomazeen, whome I have seen since . . . , came towards us and about ten Indians more: & the sd Bomazeen then shot at my husband and shote him down, ran to him & struck him three blows on the head with a hatchet, scalped him & run him three times with a bayonet. I also saw the said Bomazeen knock one of my children on the head & tooke of [f]her scalp & then put the child into her father's armes; and then stabbed the breast. And Bomazeen also then killed my husband's grandmother and scalped her." [119]Bomazeen took Ann and her remaining children captive. Binding them securely, he moved on to the next home.

Note

Reginald (Reynold) Jenkins, a trader of Dorchester, Massachusetts moved to Cape Porpoise, Maine.

"Jenkins Murder" The story is reported as "One Jenkins, late an inhabitant of Dorchester, removed to Cape Porpus (Porpoise), went with an Indian up into the country with store of goods to truck, and being asleep in a wigwam of one of *Passaconaway men, was there killed in the night by an Indian, dwelling near the Mohawks country, who fled away with his goods, but was fetched back by *Passaconaway."

Another write up and what historians believe is true story. "In September 1632, one Reynold Jenkins of Dorchester, going among the Indian under "*Passaconaway to trade, is killed, while asleep in a wigwam by one of them. The Chief pursued and captured the murderer, and according to an agreement with the English, delivers him up for punishment. They doubtless executed him. That was not mentioned in the records.

Passaconaway, name translates to "Child of the Bear" was a Chieftain in the Penacook tribe in what is now northern New England in the United States. He was a powerful shaman and sachem (Chief) of the Penacook tribe eventually becoming bashaba (Chief of Chiefs) of a multi tribal confederation that drew together for mutual protection against the Mohawk Nation.

A Reynold Jenkins was in the service of John Winter at Richmond's islands as early as 1634. He was living here on the *Newichawannock about 1640 and is mentioned in 1683. He was affiliated with the Quakers from the beginning of their preaching in Dover and Kittery, and he and neighboring Friends were more than once presented at Court for not attending the services of the church on the Lords Day. (This has to be Reynold/Reginold Jenkins, Jr.) In write ups I have found the name was spelled both ways, which was not unusual in those times.

South Berwick, Maine was once called Newichawannock, named by the Abenaki Indians. Newichawannock means "river with many falls", a reference to the Salmon Falls River. It was first settled by Europeans about 1631 as a part of Kittery Known as Kittery North Parish. Near the confluence with the Great Works River, Ambrose Gibbons built the Great House at Newichawannock, a palisaded trading post, to exchange goods with the Indians.

Found on One World Tree

The following notes were provided by Pamela Rolland Easton:THE HISTORY OF NATHANIEL RICHARD MARTINIn London, England, between 1755 and 1760, a baby in a basket was left on the doorstep of an English Lord whose name was Martin. This Martin family kept the child, legally adopted him and named him Nathaniel. Nathaniel grew to manhood and joined the British Army. Because of an offense to his commanding officer, his superior slapped him in the face. That night, in his bunk, he told his closest friend, named Issac Horton, of the unhappy event that had occurred between him and his commanding officer. He told his friend that he was planning to escape to America. Together, they escaped to Issac Horton mother's home. She tried to convince them to not to carry out these rash plans, but they stowed away on the next ship for America. After three days, they became to thirsty to hide any longer.The captain brought them to America where they joined the colonial army.(some records say they jumped ship and swam to shore) They wanted to be on hand to fight the redcoats. One record states that Nathaniel was wounded at the Battle of Trenton and was captured by the redcoats. Another record states that Nathaniel and Horton's division fought until their supply of powder gave out after which they were captured. This record states that they were not released until 1786. They may have been present at the Battle of Yorktown. They were probably in the battle of Breeds Hill.After their release, they lived in Virginia for awhile before going westward. Issac Horton married a woman named Hanah, but no record survives about Nathaniel's wife. The two families remained friends for the rest of Nathaniel and Issac's lives. There have been various inter-marriages between the two families through the years to today.August 19, 1998While searching the Internet assisting a Horton Family Member, I stumbled upon the following story. I believe the Issac Horton in the following story may be the same man described above:Issac Horton of London,England,MA,NY,PA,TN,Wayne CoPosted by Judy H Bowman Rhodes on January 11, 1997 at 23:04:13:In Reply to: Horton posted by James T Massey on January 06, 1997 at 15:16:50:I have this entire line pretty much done--with lots of help from some of the huge bunch of descendants in Searcy County,AR where Issac's sons (many of them) moved from Wayne Co,TN. Searcy Co,AR has one of the most active family research groups I have ever encountered. It helps that they are all cousins & have been their even before (although some came after) the Civil War. The Wayne Co,TN Horton's were all Union Army, those in Searcy refused to fight for the Confederacy and many were members of the famous 'chain gang'--a group of Searcy men who were taken by Union troops to see their General inlogging chains--walking the entire distance. When the General told them they would be set freeif they would join the Confederate Army, and drew a line & asked them to step over it to volunteer, not one man from Searcy did. They told him to just go ahead and hang them.(he didn't)....This Issac Horton who married Hannah Farris(Faries) of PA, she was the mother of all his children although he married a 2nd time to a much younger lady in Wayne Co,TN after Hannah died there & this 2nd wife got a pension from Issac's Rev. War service after his death on 28 February 1855 in Wayne Co--Issac was born 12 May 1759 in England, possibly London. He and a young friend (Nathaniel Richard Martin?) were afraid of being impressed to serve in the British Navy, so they stowed away on a merchant ship bound for Massachusetts. Issac was said to have been about 13 or 14 years old. They were discovered after several days, but the Captain was kind & told them if they would work hard for their passage he wouldbe fair to them. When the ship got to MA, the Captain called the boys in and told them they had worked hard and were good boys. He gave each of them a hogshead of sugar to get them started in America. When the Rev War started Issac Horton fought for the Americans--he joined the Army in Marshfield,MA & served as a boat Ferrier --He left pension & military papers. He is not, I don't think, related to the Barnabus Horton & brothers group who arrived much, much earlier & who settled in Long Island, some going on to PA, which is what my Horton ancestor Abraham Horton b.1722 in Springfield,MA son ofJohn Horton born,about 1696, whose father John Horton was born in Springfield,MA in 1672, a son ofJeremiah Horton & his wife Mary Wright. Jeremiah is said to be connected to the extremely complicated Barnabus line.....My Abraham Horton b.1722 went on to Bucks Co, PA where he married the Quaker Martha Brissell, only child of her parents, and they moved after the births of several of their sons, to North Carolina where they were members of the New Garden Meeting --they lived until their deaths in Surry Co,NC-Tom's River & several of their sons were written out of the Quaker meeting for servingin the Rev War (American side). Three of them went into South Carolina, & eastern TN after thewar--later 2 of them ended up in Georgia & later Alabama where descendants remain to the present.I first believed your Issac Horton born in London England was of this same family, but after gathering all the MA information I do no believe they were related. It is striking how similar the given names in both families were & how close your Issac & my Uncle Issac Horton ended up-- yours in Wayne Co,TN, mine in northern Alabama just across the border from Wayne Co,TN. Contact Searcy County,AR researchers for more information on Issac's line---they've got a lot & a lot of it is published. They have a get-together every year in Searcy....along with many other line researchers. Good luck, your Issac was a fascinating man & so were his descendants.

Hi Tom,

I have been working on the Jenkins family tree. I know this Jenkins Family Tree is accurate through (page I) Joseph Jenkins (1702 to 1882) and his immediate family. My family work sheet for Joseph Jenkins is enclosed.

Page 2 – From John Jenkins 1752-1831 through Stephen Jenkins 1653-1694 and page 3 through the first Reynold/Reginald Jenkins 1608-1683 believe is also the same family. I either haven't had time to really work on it, or the data, if it exists, I haven't found as yet.

From there (page 3 through pages 6) the rest of the Jenkins seems to fit into your family, but I can't be sure. Maybe you will discover this connection or the real connection while you are in England or Wales, and share it with me. I really hate to send this full tree in case I am wrong, however you need it now, and all I can do is hope I am correct.

I hope this helps you. Have a great time. My husband and I had a guide when we made the trip over there, and she was great. She took us all over, and into Wales. I wanted to see more, but we didn't have time. Ben needed to get back to work.

My best to you,

Willielee

Being Green...

Checking out at the store, the young cashier suggested to the older woman, that she should bring her own grocery bags because plastic bags weren't good for the environment.

The woman apologized and explained, "We didn't have this green thing back in my earlier days."

The young clerk responded, "That's our problem today. Your generation did not care enough to save our environment f or future generations."

She was right -- our generation didn't have the green thing in its day.

Back then, we returned milk bottles, soda bottles and beer bottles to the store. The store sent them back to the plant to be washed and sterilized and refilled, so it could use the same bottles over and over. So they really were truly recycled.

But we didn't have the green thing back in our day.

Grocery stores bagged our groceries in brown paper bags, that we reused for numerous things, most memorable besides household garbage bags, was the use of brown paper bags as book covers for our schoolbooks. This was to ensure that public property, (the books provided for our use by the school) was not defaced by our scribblings. Then we were able to personalize our books on the brown paper bags.

But too bad we didn't do the green thing back then.

We walked up stairs, because we didn't have an escalator in every store and office building. We walked to the grocery store and didn't climb into a 300-horsepower machine every time we had to go two blocks.

But she was right. We didn't have the green thing in our day.

Back then, we washed the baby's diapers because we didn't have the throwaway kind. We dried clothes on a line, not in an energy-gobbling machine burning up 220 volts -- wind and solar power really did dry our clothes back in our early days. Kids got hand-me-down clothes from their brothers or sisters, not always brand-new clothing.

But that young lady is right; we didn't have the green thing back in our day.

Back then, we had one TV, or radio, in the house -- not a TV in every room. And the TV had a small screen the size of a handkerchief (remember them?), not a screen the size of the state of Montana. In the kitchen, we blended and stirred by hand because we didn't have electric machines to do everything for us. When we packaged a fragile item to send in the mail, we used wadded up old newspapers to cushion it, not Styrofoam or plastic bubble wrap. Back then, we didn't fire up an engine and burn gasoline just to cut the lawn. We used a push mower that ran on human power. We exercised by working so we didn't need to go to a health club to run on treadmills that operate on electricity.

But she's right; we didn't have the green thing back then.

We drank from a fountain when we were thirsty instead of using a cup or a plastic bottle every time we had a drink of water. We refilled writing pens with ink instead of buying a new pen, and we replaced the razor blades in a razor instead of throwing away the whole razor just because the blade got dull.

But we didn't have the green thing back then.

Back then, people took the streetcar or a bus and kids rode their bikes to school or walked instead of turning their moms into a 24-hour taxi service. We had one electrical outlet in a room, not an entire bank of sockets to power a dozen appliances. And we didn't need a computerized gadget to receive a signal beamed from satellites 23,000 miles out in space in order to find the nearest burger joint.

But isn't it sad the current generation laments how wasteful we old folks were just because we didn't have the green thing back then?

Please forward this on to another selfish old person who needs a lesson in conservation from a smart-ass young person.

We don't like being old in the first place, so it doesn't take much to piss us off.

Hi Tom,

I know this Jenkins Family Tree is accurate through (page I) Joseph Jenkins (1702 to 1882) family. A family sheet for Joseph Jenkins is enclosed.

Page 2 – From John Jenkins 1752-1831 through Stephen Jenkins 1653-1694 I and page 3 through the first Reynold/Reginald I believe is also the same family. I either haven't had time to really work on it or the data, if it exists, I haven't found as yet.

From there on page 3 through pages 6 seems to fit into this family, but I can't be sure. Maybe you will discover the real connection while you are in England or Wales.

I hope this helps you. Have a great time. My husband and I had a guide and she was great. She took us all over and into Wales. I wanted to see more, but we didn't have time. He needed to get back to work.

My best to you,

Willielee
